ABOUT THE PRESENTERS

Wanda Lou Willis is a folklore historian who specializes in Hoosier folktales and historic research. She is the author of Haunted Hoosier Trails and More Haunted Hoosier Trails. She is a former features writer for the Indianapolis Star's "Seniority Counts" section and contributor to the SouthernIN on-line magazine and the Suite 101 - Folklore site. Willis also made regular appearances on Fox 59's Early Morning show. For many years she taught folklore at IUPUI and through the OASIS system and is a popular presenter at schools, universities, libraries, clubs and historical societies. Recently she was a guest hostess on the South Florida radio show, Magick Mind. Willis, a fifth generation Hoosier, lives in Indianapolis, Indiana with Joy, her beloved Belgian Shepherd.

As a Light Worker, Miss Nona has dedicated her life to healing Mother Earth and all of her inhabitants. She has studied metaphysical topics since she was very young. Miss Nona works as a professional medium and healer, and resides on the Westside of Indianapolis, Indiana. During years of learning through classes, seminars, weekend retreats, reading books, attending lectures, meditation, and travel she has garnered as much information as she could along the way, and continues to study various aspects of metaphysics in order to help her to understand people; their wants, their needs, their own desire for personal spiritual growth. With a strong religious background she works from a basis of Christ light and love. Her sense of humor, exuberance for life, her love of people, and her dedication to being a spiritual leader has not only enriched her personal and professional lives, but has also helped hundreds of others to find the elusive, sweet, loving peace in their own hearts.
